

ABSTRACT

An Analysis of Tenth Grade Students' Interest in Using the Spotify Application Through English Songs in Listening Class at SMA YP Unila Bandar Lampung

Helena Cynthia Agustin

19113037

The purpose of this study is to determine the students' interest in using the Spotify application through English songs in listening class. The researcher uses the qualitative research method. The research instrument consisted of a questionnaire and an interview. This research is conducted at SMA YP Unila Bandar Lampung. The research subjects are students of X9 class. The number of students in X9 class is 32 students, consisting of 19 females and 14 males. Students are interested in using the Spotify application through English songs in listening class this is because the Spotify application is user-friendly for students, has a simple and attractive design, and also Spotify application has many features it is interesting for students. Thus, the Spotify application is recommended to use one of the learning media to learn Listening.

Keywords: English songs, Listening, Spotify application, Students' interest